Greentube backstage - Take a look behind the scenes in Vienna

In order to be successful when playing games online, one needs the right skills, high ambitions and, most importantly, to have fun! The same is also the case when creating new games. We believe that knowledge and talent, as well as room for creativity and fun, create the best products. This is why Greentube is the industry leader in terms of providing innovative gaming and gambling solutions. Here, in the heart of Vienna, more than 160 employees representing Austria and many other nations drive these ambitions and work in cross-functional teams to ensure that ideas and knowledge are constantly being shared. Sounds chaotic? It's not! Interaction between different minds is exactly what creates the dynamic surroundings that enable us to grow.

WORKING IN 3D

At Greentube, we are particularly proud of our innovative 3D department and, by way of introduction, we would like you to meet Jochen Leopold who has been working for Greentube since March 2008.

Why did you choose to work with Greentube?
"I had always wanted to work in the 3D industry and knew Greentube already from Ski Challenge. I particularly liked that Greentube had surpassed its start up phase but still maintained a very casual way of interacting with its employees. That is also the case today."

The 3D field is constantly improving – how does your department make sure we do not lose overview of the latest technologies?
"We closely monitor all developments and games in our area. In the 3D field this is a particularly pleasant task. In terms of technical innovation, one must simply dive into the literature and experiment."

What makes Greentube's products special?
"Each product has its own attributes. But they all have one thing in common: the great online competition. Our ranks include not only the typical gamers but also many casual gamers. This is mostly because our games are offered free of charge. We also make sure that our products work with a wide range of hardware. Moreover, it does not hurt that you are able to race down the lane in Kitzbühel at 130 km/h in Ski Challenge, for example. When do you get the opportunity to do that and who would even dare to attempt it in real life?"

Which activities do you enjoy the most at Greentube?
"I really enjoy exploring new areas. That could be a new pipeline tool or new supported hardware. Diversity and exciting assignments are definitely not rare at Greentube."

If you are interested in knowing more about Greentube or our products, please feel free to contact us: sales@greentube.com